Dear Honorable Judge Kaplan:

I retired as a New Haven detective after 27 years of service following Army military police duty.

My experience within the judicial system causes me to respectfully take exception to your decision to allow Sam Bankman-Fried to go to the home of his mom and dad and comfortably await his trial date which is contrary to the majority of arrestees, I or my colleagues are familiar with.

The volume of physical evidence plus the billions of dollars intentionally stolen from customers deposits to support a greedy luxury life style as a massive number of innocent victims are financially destroyed by this devious scheme warrants no pity from our court.

I am asking you to reverse your decision and send Mr. Bankman-Fried directly to jail.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Thomas F. Morrissey, Jr.
